UK Outlook for Sunday 25 Jul 2021 to Tuesday 3 Aug 2021:
A turn to more unsettled weather throughout this period. Sunday remains unsettled across England and Wales, with scattered and slow-moving showers and thunderstorms. While temperatures dip back to near normal for most it will remain warm across Scotland and Northern Ireland, with the best of any dry or sunny spells here in the west. Monday and Tuesday sees further scattered and heavy (possibly thundery) showers, especially in the east of the UK, with drier and brighter conditions in the west. From the middle of next week until early August, we will likely see changeable conditions with a mix of sunny spells and heavy showers, perhaps with some more prolonged rain at times. Currently, there is no preference towards any particular area seeing one regime dominate. Temperatures around average.
